Description:

“Regional lifestyle magazine” does not do this listing justice. It is more than a magazine, it’s a full blown luxury brand. With an established influential audience, locals along the Gulf Coast interact with this publication each month through the print publication, social media, website and highly attended events.

As the Bay area’s first and most prominent content platform for women, our publication drives revenue through its ultra local approach. The fact that women make approximately 90% of all consumer purchases created tremendous potential for a successful women’s publication. As an authoritative commentator of our unique local culture, from over the top weddings to Mardi Gras to SEC football entertaining, this publication has positioned itself as the unquestioned leader in this space.
